HALOTEQ Announces Partnership with Scarborough Capital Management

Acclaimed financial services firm names HALOTEQ as lead developer and manager of technology solutions.

SPARKS, MARYLAND – HALOTEQ Technology, a leader in managed services and business solutions, with a focus on strategic information technology, proudly announces their partnership with Scarborough Capital Management to create and oversee an innovative cloud-computing and data back-up project that will be a long-term solution for the retirement services provider.

“When I founded HALOTEQ, it was with the financial services industry in mind,” said Michael Goff, HALOTEQ President and CEO. “The industry’s administrative nuances, compliance requirements and need for near-synchronous data transactions has been the blueprint for how our technology solutions have been created and operated.”

HALOTEQ developed a customized solution for Scarborough Capital Management based on their patented iQloud platform. The technology is a cloud-computing system that allows Scarborough staff the ability to have remote access from anywhere in the world, while also maintaining a level of security that far exceeds industry standards. Additionally, through the HALOTEQ SpinBAQ system, Scarborough has a business continuity tool in place that safeguards their information in case of any level of emergency.

“Our new partnership will allow the Scarborough to focus on what they do best: Planning their clients’ financial futures,” Goff continued.

For more than two decades, Scarborough Capital Management has offered financial planning help for people in all stages of life. Their specialties include 401K Savings Plan Management services for employees participating in their company’s retirement plans, 401K rollover services, and a full suite of financial services ranging from management of IRA assets to retirement-income distribution. The company currently works with individuals at over 125 different plans ranging from Fortune 500 companies to small and midsized businesses.

“Our partnership with HALOTEQ has not only allowed our organization to focus solely on strategies that will improve the financial portfolios of our clients, but has also put us on track to create a more efficient, future-is-now technological infrastructure that will reduce our bottom-line cost, while improving our capabilities,” said Michael Scarborough.

HALOTEQ is built as a one stop shop for all business technology needs, and uniquely positioned to outsource the entire IT function, while giving the business a major upgrade in technology capabilities. Beyond cost and technology management, the company works with each client to align their business and IT goals and objectives with a clear mission: Improve business productivity and agility, while reducing operational costs and risks.

The company was founded by former Fortune 1000 COOs and CIOs with years of experience in technology and business management as developers, suppliers and buyers of a vast array of technology and business services.
