Case Study: On Demand Mail Services (ODMS)

On Demand Mail Services moved to a new, larger facility to accommodate the company's growth. Like so many businesses, they did not have the luxury of downtime to overhaul and upgrade their IT system. However, their new facility did not have the internet capabilities necessary to make use of the new equipment they purchased. That's where Enertron came in.

We installed a cellular LTE internet antenna, so they could have internet access for the 3 months it took to get hardwired internet service installed, which allowed ODMS to continue operations uninterrupted.
